Freedom for Legs!

Single Column Table in New Design

ALEO is the new height-adjustable single column table by FAWO with the aim of allowing more legroom for its users. This product is a leaner version of the well-known model PRIMERO. The elegantly designed newcomer with the slender waist not only enables comfortable seating, it also makes a very nice figure.

The principle of the single column table was revised and the second generation mobile freedom knows what it wants: it has an eye for fashion and pays attention to its slim aluminum line. It is no longer round, but rectangular. This high-class FAWO product extension of the practical single-column system is showcased at a much lower price than its predecessor, shines with the same functionality, simple usability, solid technology and traditional stability – a trademark of its proven manufacturer Kesseböhmer.

The elegant built-in furniture is fixed and mounted with an ergonomic base. ALEO can be lowered continuously from 668 to 308 and adjusted at the desired height. The tabletop is driven up with an integrated gas spring.
