Splendid Prospects

New INPROJAL 20.000 furniture installation programme convinces with innovative and modern designs

Splendour and glamour with the system supplier for caravans and mobile homes: with INPROJAL 20.000, FAWO is presenting the further development of the small format electrical installation programme 10.000. And it is enthusing caravan fans with a high quality, superior look.

The new fittings installation programme is extending the previous 10.000 version, and unchanged installation dimensions enable a rapid addition to the previous model. At the same time all of the multifunctional parts from the previous programme (USB charging cable or TV combi) can be installed in the new version.

An upgrade is worthwhile, as with the maximised dimensions of the functional surfaces, wall installation without milling, and adapter frames with centring tabs for secure installation, INPROJAL 20.000 offers numerous top class functions. A new hinged cap with a concealed axis for all of the sockets makes the combination perfect. The sockets are available with a choice of either spring clamping or screw connection technology.

The switches and keypad have also been technically revised: a reduction of the construction heights, shorter switch travel and the optimisation of the pressure point offer caravan travellers even more future comfort. In addition to this, with ultramodern LED technology in 12 and 230 volt configuration, the chic control switches bring a genuine sense of splendour to the home. The programme is further enhanced by a 5-pin button.

INPROJAL 20.000 also offers something for the eyes with a precisely configured, chic design. Whether understated and elegant white, timelessly classic slate grey or a classic, structuring black – all of the colour versions for the cover frame and installed parts can be combined with each other according to your personal taste. In addition to this, galvanised frames and satinised control elements provide splendid visuals down to the smallest detail.

Simply try it out yourself and find your personal design combination from nine chic options. Create a bit of glamour in your world of mobile living.
